That's where The Tome of Horrors Complete delivers in spades. Starting from the original Tome written with the 3rd Edition rules along with the later releases of Tomes for version 3.5, Necromancer Games was in the unique position to bring you updates of the classic monsters not formally released by the OGL, as well as, loads of new ones never sprung upon unsuspecting players before. Why stop there? Never before have all three volumes been updated to the Pathfinder Roleplaying Game in their entirety and released as a single, hardbound tome. Monsters from the aber

With over 90 different backgrounds, all mapped out in beautiful detail. Choose to explore a frozen city, find evidence, interrogate your way to the truth. Tons of easter eggs/inside jokes, including the greatest secret of all - a giant j-pop hipster. The whole game will take you somewhere between 1 to 2 hours, but that's it. You do not need to see the ending. This is a multi-layered strategy game involving the conflict between the mankind and the machines. Your mission is to survive the alien invasion and overthrow the enemy. You play as a human and you have to escape from 3 different evolutions of robots. Try to survive, score as many points as you can, but remember that the game is called "Apollo the fighter" for a reason. You were not meant to destroy the alien invasion. They were created to do exactly that. More information will be provided at the beginning of the game. Currently only has some of the menu's. But expect to get all the features shortly. PROJECT PORTFOLIO - Coastal and under ground Project information PORTFOLIO PROJECT OVERVIEW An Update on two new underwater oil exploration projects in Kuwait.
Summary Two new exploration projects are due to begin in 2012. They are being developed in parallel and will culminate in the development of a possible 200,000 barrel per day oil installation (200 mm bopd) and construction of an associated pipeline at a ship break at the ports of Umm Al Aliyah and United Aljomaih. The duration of the projects is between two and three years with possible extension of one or both work packages. Project Description The project will exploit an area of potential oil sedimentation(USGS) in deep water on the coast of Kuwait, approximately 11km due west of the Umm Al Aliyah stratum. The project has been selected by a selection committee appointed by the National Petroleum Company on behalf of Kuwaiti Amiri. The project is being performed by Kuwait Petroleum Corporation, with the full support of the National Petroleum Company. There will be two wells drilled. One is a horizontal well and the other is a vertically oriented sub-sea completion. At the surface the project involves installation of a mechanized drilling rig. Drilling this deep takes a lot of time and an enormous amount of very expensive equipment. The chances of exploration success at a depth of 3,310 m depend to a large extent on factors such as: the rock type, the geological overburden and the state of the ecosystem. The typical oil on the sea floor is believed to be a substance called oil shale and then derived oil (light oil that isn't refined). The most amazing thing about sedimentary rock is that, if it's under water, most of its floor is usually composed of calcium carbonate. This kind of rock tends to dissolve readily, coming out of solution forming layers (called carbonatic) with seepage of petrol. This is the rock type where the wells are being drilled. This is the location of the proposed well sites. The proposed well sites are about 7km southwest of the proposed onshore ship break (United Aljomaih). To the west of this, the bathymetry changes into a more chaotic zone of sedimentary rock. On the shore, the coastline is generally low and sandy. The tidal fluctuation of up to 2 metres is likely

Enter the moon is an immersive 3D simulation of the entire moon, with a focus on the mining of helium-3. In addition to exploring an amazing 3D landscape of a complete moon in real-time, the player gets to search for helium-3 and fight against the enemy in real time. Gameplay: The scene unfolds on the surface of the moon as the player notices traces of a former geothermal rift that extends to the surface. Before the beginning of the game, the player will choose an Earth-bound spaceship which will launch them in the direction of the moon. As the spacecraft is heavy and it takes some time to get in orbit, the player is given the opportunity to control the landing speed of the spaceship to find its ideal position in the atmosphere. The spaceship lands and the player discovers that he is in the part of the planet with a large blue area covering the landscape. The player will have to choose a spot where he can build a platform and get the rocks on the area, to be able to start mining helium-3. The player can also explore the surface of the planet and will find several ore deposits, crystals and other small elements. If the player decides to get off the ship and walk around, he will notice that the landscape is divided into zones, only accessible in specific spots. The players will have to explore the entire moons surface in order to mine every possible resource. The player will also discover creatures that he should not meet in the wild. Since all the creatures can hunt at night, the player needs to use the gloabl night mode to uncover all their hideouts. As the player will be able to notice that he is not alone in the moon, the player will have to build a permanent base to defend himself against the creatures or the enemy, or simply hide out in the moon caves to wait for the next night. If the player decides to go on a mission, he will be able to choose between different missions, such as picking up items from asteroids or intercepting enemy spaceships. While going into enemy territory, the player will notice that the enemy ships will use a kinetic cannon in order to destroy the player's ship. The player should take on a defensive approach in order to survive. If the player finds an enemy base, he can opt between going on an attack or repairing his ship. In order to damage enemy ships, the player must use the shield upgrade system, as
