Ship a ship up to 7 players in multiplayer. You can be the captain of your own ship, or just see what everyone is doing. When ships collide they explode, but get into a battle to steal crates and ammo. More crates give you more energy and less energy means you are more likely to get hit. By collecting crates you can buy better weapons, or damage your opponents. Play as the cannon, or go stealthy with a knife. The camera follows your ship! You can go up and down and jump. By using the screen controls your enemies are harder to hit. Use them to dodge incoming damage! Jump over tanks and barrels to knock down other players and bosses. Single player mode has you destroy the other ships without getting hit. You can win even without your ship. Hover over crates to get them. Local multiplayer for up to 8 players. Challenging single player arcade mode. Choose between 5 different game modes. Sleeveless lightweight runners are a tried-and-true sneaker, but this is the lightest pair on the market. Donning a smooth genuine leather upper with tonal laces, a water-resistant mesh lining, and two colored Swoosh logos, this pair is ready for the sweet summer weather.Q: Bruteforcing passcodes on iOS I've been researching and looking into how to brute-force password attempts on iOS. Most of the methods that I've seen so far require a small server to act as a proxy for the iPhone to fetch data from. I'm looking to build this out on iPhone itself and not need the server to handle requests. What is the best way to brute-force passcodes on an iOS device? Also, I'm interested in reading in the raw logs that are dumped by the OS, rather than screenshots or videos of the attack. How can one do this? A: To grab the raw log, you'll need to use a jailbroken device. As far as bruteforcing, this isn't a well known technique, but I'm sure the iOS security team knows of people wanting to do this. If you

You are a Player of the 'RPG Maker'. You have been summoned to a meeting with the leader of the "Pirate Kingdoms" - a mysterious and powerful empire. Its leader, the "Heroine" (whom you will also have to meet during your quest) reveals that your "tool" (that is to say the tool you created with "RPG Maker" to bring this adventure to life) was needed as part of a "greater plan" that will change the world of "RPG Maker". You, the Player, will have to create a hero, a heroine, an ally and an enemy. If you make a mistake, you may die, the game will then end (with your death, the tale of your adventure will also come to an end). Choose your quest. It is you who will decide how the story of your adventures will unfold. Choose your path, the path of "elements", the path of "nature", the path of "technology", the path of "war" and the path of "peace". The choice is yours. In the "Pirate Kingdoms" you will encounter different environments and enemies along with several allies, monsters, items, treasures and events. A Heroine is waiting for you in the "Heroine's Tower". Her name is "Mia". When you start the game, you will meet "Mia", a "Heroine" who will teach you "the basic powers of "Heroine characters". During your adventure, you will come across items, allies and monsters from "RPG Maker's" original library, the "Character Kit". If you want to add "Game Legends" or "Upgrade by Level" to your "character" (tool), you must unlock them in the "tutorial" ("pre-game" part) of your adventure this writing, there's a total of 11 levels in Space Gladiators. Each level tells the story of a different planet in the Alpha Centauri system, and can be completed within 45 seconds on average for the first two levels. Each level's difficulty can be increased or decreased by spending the necessary blue and gold cards, which increase levels' success rates, to make it easier or harder for the player. Space Gladiators runs on Java 3D to display its graphics. The game's music is created from Java Sound, and the sound effects are created using Java Sound.

The Lost Sky is a 2D multi-directional action game set in a dystopian world. With the uprising of an army of battle drones, the planet's civilization has been reduced to but nothing. You will fight in order to destroy any last vestiges of the haywire drones. The mission is to "Reset" the planet - to wipe the slate clean and to usher in a new beginning.

-Full controller support. -Enjoy intense dogfights against a whole array of enemy drones. -Clear missions with various objectives, such as providing backup to your allies, or to destroy giant bosses. -Defeat all enemies in your way and collect the Orbs they drop. Use these to acquire new characters and strengthen them. -Work to unlock the Database to learn more about the world and its history.

Phelan MacBain: Is that all? Wonder what makes you think you can take on the entire world? Evan Anderson: Did you just insult me? Phelan MacBain: Don't take it personally, I meant the world. Evan Anderson: I don't take it personally. Phelan MacBain: But you take your work personally. Evan Anderson: You're a monster. Phelan MacBain: Take care of yourself, Evan. Evan Anderson: Don't let your guard down around me... unless you want a song on your funeral. Phelan MacBain: Whatever you say, Dracula. You're the King of the Vampires. Evan Anderson: I know you are going back to your island with the rest of your skinned friends. Phelan MacBain: That I can do. Evan Anderson: Ah, I'm touched. Became you used by the Ordina of Order. Now your mission is to pacify the cities and villages. You need to master all the abilities to prepare you for your mission and efficiently complete it.
